MARK · Seeing Jesus Clearly ✦✦

Study Scripture INDUCTIVELY:

The inductive study method is a process that allows Scripture to speak for itself. It emphasizes careful observation, accurate interpretation, and personal application. This method equips you to study the Bible with depth and clarity.

Observation – What does the text say?

- Read the passage multiple times.
 - Identify key words, phrases, and repeated ideas.
 - Look for contrasts, comparisons, and cause-effect relationships.
 - Note the people, places, events, and chronology.
 - Ask: Who? What? When? Where? Why? How?

Week 14 · July 13–19 questions:

Sunday focus: Mark 10:1–52

- What does this week reveal about receiving the kingdom like a child?
- How does Jesus confront power, wealth, self-sufficiency, and spiritual blindness?
- What do I most want Jesus to do for me—and what might He want from me?
- Where is Jesus calling me to trust Him more simply and follow Him more fully?
